The number of Nuns in this Conwent, at project, is about sixty. A. mong them are descendants of serent rich and powerful families. Their enployments consists in confessions, vigils, fasts, penances, reading and religious exercises, in domestic concerns, and in making fine fleedle work for sale. The Charity School embraces about 200 day pupils., For their humanity and benevolence in collecting and teaching these children, the Nuns de-serve praise. In these employments they appeared happy; but the happiness of these devotces, if cal, must be of the negative kind.

In one respect I was much disappointed. Instead of finding, in the

Among the passengers in the Caladonia on Monday, was Mr. Sparks, who, having completed his historical researches in Europe, has returned to this country after an absence of nearly, a year and a half. He has been erceedingly fortunate in obtaining ac-cess to documents connected with the period of the American revolution whether reposited in the public archives en in the possession of private persons. The utmost courtery, and liberality has been shown him by the public functionaries both in England and France in submitting to his inspection and per-mitting him to copy the diplomatic and other papers in their keeping, as not wishing to keep back the truth of kin-tory, and as desirous of affording every facility to the labours of a learned and able man who had no other object is view than that of giving a fair and important 2 cord of important event. I should not make this reference, was it not that in the account published in the French paper, it is stated, that "these events have raised against them, the Americana) the indignation of the Mahones, and the inhabitants of Villa Carlos, and the inhabitants of Villa Carlos, (George Town,) who assured the au thorities of the country that is no instance were the French the aggressors.

On the 25th January last, about one the French sailors belonging to the Cor-vette Pomone, and Brig Faune, in which several of my. men were severe-ly wounded, two of them dangerously so. Upon that occasion, the Hovernor of Minorca, issued an order dated 26in January, 1829, addressed to the Con-suls, with a request that they would communicate the same to the commanders of public vessels in port, di recting that all seamen on share should retire on board at sunset. In compliance with that order, the American seamen were kept on braid their ships until the 13th February, when I obtained the consent of the Governor for them to visit the shore during the eight succeeding days. The French on the contrary appeared to take no notice of the order, but their seamen continued to visit the shore, constantly at night to visit the shore, constantly at night, and generally armed with swords. Within a week subsequent to the af fray of the 25th January, above alluded fray of the 25th January, above alluded to, at my request, (made through our Consul, Mr. Ludico.) the Godernor of Minorca proposed to the French Consul, residing at Mahon, with a view to prevent the sailors of different nations from meeting on shore, that the Preach sailors should be allowed a certain number of days (say ten) to visit the more and that seremonds the Americal above, and the blessing of heaven with shore, and that afterwards the Americans should come on shore, and so on alternately. The Governor informed me that the French Consul declined making any such arrangement, to circumstance we must attri bute the unfortunate affair of the 15th,

I will four state the circumstances of the case, confining myself to the 15th of February. L. Mescard, with several of his men, had taken into cus several of his men, had taken into cus tody a man belonging to this ship, and was dragging him along Castle-street. (the general place of resort for sailors.) with the declared object of taking him before the Governor, but for what purpose I have not been able to learn; the man was severely beaten, and his cries of marder brought several of his shipmates to his rescue, and in the affray which ensued, the French lieutenant received a blow on the head, which fractured his scull and terminated his existence. PERU AND COLOMBIA.

The New York Journal of Commerce of Wednesday says:-"We have been able to collect no further information relative to the battle between the Colombian and Peruvian armies, except that it was fought on the 27th and 28th of February, and that the forces engaged were 8000 Peruvians and 5000 Colombians. There is no paper published at Porto Cabello, and consequently none were brought by the Splendid. A single copy of the Proclamation of Bolivar, announcing the result, was forwarded by the American consul but being addressed to the Secretary of State, it was immediately transmitted to Washington.

It may, however, be regarded as certain, that the unhappy war which existed between the two countries, is brought to a close. Except in the final engagement, (concerning which the particulars have not come to hand) it has been attended with very little bloodshed, and has only been fruitful in hostile feeling, and expenses which neither Republic was able to bear. - It is due to Colombia er power shall interfere with the government of the other; that the in-dependence of the Bolivian Republie is acknowledged; that the Peruvian army shall evacuate the soil of Colombia within 20 days: that plenipotentiaries on both sides shall neet at Gayaquil in May, to form a definitive treaty of alliance against all foreign invasion; and lastly, that the blockade against the Colombian ports shall cease on the day on which the Commissioners shall meet at Guaraquil to settle the details of the definitive treaty.

The most important part of the Convention to us, is that which raises the blockade of the Colombian ports, and of course takes off the rammels now imposed on our commerce with these ports, and as by article 8, our government is to requested to act as a mediator, and guarantee the definitive treaty, there is no doubt that our intercourse with both countries will become more frequent and valuable.

Rhe fighting appears to have been desperate and the slaughter of the Peruvians very great. According to the Colombian account, 8,000 Peruvians were beaten 14,000 Colom-
